

Seventh Generation Fund's Request for Proposals: Thriving Women

The Seventh Generation Fund for Indigenous Peoples invites proposals for its Thriving Women Program: Indigenous women-led, community-based projects that empower Native Peoples to address gender violence and restore wellness (individual, family, and community). Thriving Women projects nurture healthy and thriving Native communities, and reclaim a world without violence against Native women, children and families. Potential projects may include:

- Reviving subsistence and traditional food systems
- Traditional health and wellness practices (birthkeeping, healing, arts, dancing, etc.)
- Gendered violence issue advocacy (events, workshops, campaigns, etc.)
- Culturally appropriate crisis services/trauma support
- Multi-generational leadership gatherings
- Bolstering coming-of-age ceremonies
- Exploring the link between extractive industries and violence against Native women/girls

Grant Award Ranges:

- $1,000 to $30,000 for Contiguous United States, Native Hawaii, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands
- $10,000 to $50,000 for Native Alaska

Selected grantees may be invited for multi-year funding

Proposals Due: March 1, 2019 June 7, 2019 October 11, 2019 (Alaska-based projects only)
